Invitation to Participate

The International Association for Landscape Ecology (IALE) - North America is seeking sponsors for the 2022 Virtual Annual Meeting to be held April 11 - 14, 2022.

The IALE - North America Annual Meeting brings together up to 500 professionals and students in the fields of geology, ecology, biology, geography, urban and regional planning, and landscape preservation and design.

Highlights Will Include:
- In-depth, hands-on workshops
- Thought-provoking plenary sessions
- Special symposia and contributed papers
- Oral presentations and virtual posters
- Numerous social and networking opportunities

Key Reasons to Join Us:
- Reach a target audience of world-class landscape ecology professionals, students, scientists, and practitioners.
- Increase awareness of your services or products.
- Engage and connect with attendees in a casual format, with ample opportunities for networking at the social events and via the virtual event platform.

Benefits of the Virtual Event:
- Save money on travel!
- Similar interactions available—live chats, scheduled appointments, etc.
- More qualified leads—virtual events statistically bring more attendees.
- Analytical data tracked and information captured that is shared with you post-event.
- Virtual conference platform will be available well beyond the conference dates, prolonging your company’s recognition and exposure.

The detailed schedule will be provided after the call for abstracts closes, but it will include all of the following features over the course of the week. (Please note: Items indicated with an * are available sponsorship opportunities)

- Three Plenary Sessions*
- Student/Mentor Networking Event*
- Virtual Poster Session*
- Social Events
- Awards Ceremony*
- Concurrent Technical Sessions and Symposia
- In-Depth Workshops
- Virtual Field Trips
